

New Accommodation Buildings & Refurbishment Reports

Many tour operators work with developers who design and build new accommodation or refurbish existing facilities in overseas resorts. Often this accommodation is contracted before the works are fully completed.

A key consideration for tour operators is that the works frequently fail subsequent safety assessments or require substantial and costly alterations to reduce the risk potential to a satisfactory level.

Preventative Action

To help prevent this situation arising Argent can provide a 'Plan Assessment Report' to help ensure that properties are compliant once completed. Typically, this can be particularly effective in the areas of fire safety provision, the planning of swimming pools and the layout and workflow of kitchen areas.

Argent examines plans and liaises with designers and architects to help ensure that the plans are interpreted correctly during the building phase and that the completed works will meet the necessary health and safety standards.

Benefits

The benefits to tour operators are clearly identifiable in terms of the potential costs that could be incurred to rectify non-compliant accommodation and also, most importantly safeguarding the integrity of the company's reputation with its customers.
